Message

While humans, great or otherwise, are invariably riddled with imperfections, we as the 2nd largest professional Body in the world, believe that nothing could be more fulfilling than celebrating the ideas and thoughts of those members of ICAI serving mainly in industry and business who through their contribution, relentless hard work, remarkable insight and innate talent have made their organisations, rather the country, if not the world richer than they found it.

The mega annual event, 11th ICAI Awards 2017, being held on 19th January, 2018 in Mumbai, is meant for recognising those members who have been instrumental in creating value to their company's stakeholders thereby steering the nation towards a greater common good. Besides being rewarded as role models, their creative contribution in respective fields that other members can emulate would be showcased in that ceremony.

Truly, role models serve as a great source of inspiration for elevating the people to zone of high commitment and high competence. More such role models more the glory they bring to humanity and make the profession proud. Their competency makes them shine in limelight and people who come closer to them can clearly perceive their magnitude of commitment. Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam's (the 11th President of India) life demonstrates that if competence and commitment are interlocked in an inseparable embrace, there will be no boundaries for one's growth.

It is heartening to note that this year, CPABI has added a few more categories to cover the members serving in certain specified areas.

I wish the endeavour a grand success.

CA. Nilesh S. Vikamsey

President, ICAI

With an aim to promote ease of doing business, enable rapid growth and meet global standards or set best practices, various reforms were initiated such as, demonetization, Goods and Services Tax, NPA and Insolvency Code. The reforms will bring the desired changes in long-term, albeit slowly and the recent dip in GDP growth is an aberration, as India will gain immensely.

All the regulatory authorities, are geared up to promote ease of doing business, attract investment and help the country achieve rapid growth, and are continually revising policies and relaxing rules. To keep pace with such regulatory reforms, the members serving in industry are working ardently by learning new concepts and practices. Some of those members have proven their proficiency and achieved exemplary success that is beyond comparison.

True Competence and Commitment remain keys to attain the stage of significance in life. People blessed with high commitment and high competency is a gift of God. Their competency makes them shine in limelight and people who come closer to them clearly perceive their qualities of commitment. Many of our members, serving in the industry and business, have proven themselves worthy enough to improve the financial health of the corporates they work with resulting in prosperity of the country. Besides making the stakeholders satisfied, those members made the CA profession also proud.

It is a pleasure to know that the Committee for Professional Accountants in Businesses & Industry (CPABI), under the aegis of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI), with a view to showcase such excellent works and spread the magic of their magnificent achievements, would recognize those members at a mega event - ICAI Awards, 2017 that will be held on 19th January, 2018 at Nehru Centre in Mumbai.

I wish every success to the event.

CA. Naveen N. D. Gupta

Vice-President, ICAI

Message

Corporations, nowadays, are considered to be growth engines of any country's economy. The strong foundation of its business houses, in fact, ensures sustainable growth, development and prosperity of a country. Some of the Indian conglomerates have expanded many fold over the years, made their presence felt beyond the national boundaries. And, it is a matter of fact, that many of our Chartered Accountants have proven their proficiency and professionalism in that endeavour to help corporations achieve spectacular success. Such a catalytic contribution of those professionals in the progress of Indian economy won them accolades, awards and praises both from the organizations they serve as well as from the different stakeholders for adding values sustainably.

It is heartening to note that with a view to inspire and involve more number of members serving in industry and business, CPABI has, this time, widen the categories of Awards.

I request all the members in industry, entrepreneurship and Public Services to take part in the Nomination Process, in large numbers, and wish them every success.

CA. M. Devaraja Reddy

Immediate Past President and Chairman, CMEPS, ICAI

Nowadays, a large number of members opt for beginning and building their professional career in industry and business. In turn, the industrial houses derive the benefit of sound and solid knowledge base of those professionals who are ethically right and intellectually bright. Again culture influences conduct, creativity and efficiency that gets translated into effectiveness. Research reveals a close relationship between success of corporates and expertise of professionals who run those corporates.

Success breeds success and showcasing stories of our members in a specific occasion inspires and influences others. ICAI Awards function is one such event that provides a unique opportunity to all members in industry and business to flash their success stories through taking part in the nomination process. The online nomination process is on and remains open till 30th November, 2017.

With those few words, I would invite all the members in the industry to visit <https://awards.icai.org/> and involve others as well to share your accomplishments that you achieved over a period of time by filling the nomination forms, according to length of experience and other criteria to fulfil respective categories' requirement.

An overwhelming response from the members in industry can only make this path breaking endeavour truly purposeful.

With best wishes

CA. Prafulla P. Chhajed

Chairman, CPABI, ICAI

Corporations spur economic growth and support sustainable development of a country. India witnessed and reaped its rich dividend after industrial reform in 1991. The Central Government's recent decisions on demonetization and the Goods and Services Tax (GST) have temporarily put the brakes on India's growth. The Government itself has attributed this short term slow down as a temporary pain for long-term gain. Whatever be the reform measures, the contribution of the members of ICAI serving in the Industry and business, in particular, remains mammoth to get those regulatory rules implemented in its true letter and spirit and that too, in a time bound manner.

To acknowledge the exemplary achievements of those members serving in the industry who have made the Profession proud, the CPABI holds an annual event in the form of ICAI-Awards and this time it will happen at Mumbai on 19th January, 2018.

I feel privileged to invite all the members working in industry to participate in the ICAI Awards.

CA. Manu Agrawal

Vice-Chairman, CPABI, ICAI
